RG104 E-235 Vol 305 Misc Correspondence

Treasury Department,

Bureau of the Mitnit,

Mashington, J. C., June 6, 1899

Hon. H. Dudley Colemen,

Mint New Orleans, La.

d sire

I have received and carefully considered your letter of June 1st.

I have no wish to interfere in the matter of your appointment of an assistant, further than may seem absolutely necessary to maintain the general rules which are deemed to be essential to the efficient to initiatization and operation of all our Mints. The fact that your son is a graduate of the Stevens Institute of Technology is a considerable point in his favor, although the course of mechanical engineering which he seems to have taken would not alone qualify him to perform the duties of melter and refiner. The discipline and training of such a course however, would undoubtedly be of great service to him, and prepare him to pick up the work of the position much more rapidly than one without such a course would be able to

I enclose herewith a copy of regulation No. 9 of the new service Rules ,applying to excepted positions. You will that by this although the position of assistant melter and refiner longer to be filledby competitive examinations the person nomination the office must pass a non-competitive examination prescrib-

I am willing to approve of your sons appointment, but it will be assary as you see, for him to take and pass this examination.

It do not think it would be practicable for him to do this at ment as the examination will include practical tests. I am milling to approve his temporary appointment for ninety days and demain to the Philadelphia Mint. After 60 or 90 days in that intend the million with his school training to prepare him, I think it quite the mill he will be able to pass the examination and give good service of the four assistant. If it proves to be so I shall be much gratified think young men of his training likely with experience to held think young men of his training likely with experience to be prepared in the service.

It will be necessary for him to meet his own expenses to and the philadelphia but he will of course draw his salary from the date.

lindly advise me if this arrangement is acceptable.

Very truly yours,

Mo E. Colens

Treasury Department, Bureau of the Mint, Washington, D. C.

June 6, 1899

Hon. E. Dudley Coleman, Mint New Orleans, La.

Sir:

I have received and carefully considered your leitur of June 1st. I have no wish to interfere in the matter of your appointment of an assistant, further than may seem absolutely necessary to maintain the general rules which are deemed to be essential to the efficient administration and operation of all our Mints. The fact that your son is a graduate of the Stevens Institute of Technology is a considerable point in his favor, although the course of mechanical engineering which he seems to have taken would not alone qualify him to perform the duties of melter and refiner. The discipline and training of such a course however, would undoubtedly be of great service to him, and prepare him to pick up the work of the position much more rapidly than one without such a course would be able to do.

I enclose herewith a copy of regulation No. 9 of the new Civil Service Rules applying to excepted positions. You will see by this that although the position of assistant melter and refiner is no longer to be filled by competitive examinations, the person nominated for the office must pass a non-competitive examination prescribed by the Civil Service Commission.

I am willing to approve of your son's appointment but it will be necessary as you see, for him to take and pass this examination.

I do not think it would be practicable for him to do this at present as the examination will include practical tests. I am willing to approve his temporary appointment for ninety days and send him to the Philadelphia Mint. After 60 or 90 days in that institution with his school training to prepare him, I think it quite likely he will be able to pass the examination and give good service as your assistant. If it proves to be so I shall be much gratified as I think young men of his training likely with experience to make very efficient officials in the service.

It will be necessary for him to meet his own expenses to and from Philadelphia but he will of course draw his salary from the date of entering upon his duties.

Kindly advise me if this arrangement is acceptable.

Very truly yours, [Signature] George E. Roberts